Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Acting District Director, Miami, Florida, who certified his decision to the Administrative Appeals Office for review. The acting district director's decision will be affirmed.

The applicant is a native and citizen of Colombia who filed this application for adjustment of status to that of a lawful permanent resident under section 1 of the Cuban Adjustment Act (CAA) of November 2, 1966. This Act provides, in pertinent part:

[T]he status of any alien who is a native or citizen of Cuba and who has been inspected and admitted or paroled into the United States subsequent to January 1, 1959 and has been physically present in the United States for at least one year, may be adjusted by the Attorney General, in his discretion and under such regulations as he may prescribe, to that of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence if the alien makes an application for such adjustment, and the alien is eligible to receive an immigrant visa and is admissible to the United States for permanent residence. The provisions of this Act shall be applicable to the spouse and child of any alien described in this subsection, regardless of their citizenship and place of birth, who are residing with such alien in the United States.

The acting district director determined that the applicant was not eligible for adjustment of status as the stepchild of a native or citizen of Cuba, pursuant to section 1 of the Act of November 2, 1966, because her mother's application for adjustment of status under the CAA was denied. The acting district director, therefore, denied the application.

The applicant has provided no statement or additional evidence on notice of certification.

The record reflects that on March 9, 2002, at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, the applicant's mother [REDACTED] married [REDACTED] a native and citizen of Cuba whose immigration status was adjusted to that of a lawful permanent resident of the United States, pursuant to section 1 of the CAA. Based on that marriage, on April 3, 2002, the applicant filed for adjustment of status as the stepchild of a native and citizen of Cuba, pursuant to section 1 of the CAA.

The acting district director noted that in the course of a full marriage interview with the petitioner's mother and stepfather, several discrepancies were encountered. He, therefore, concluded that the applicant's mother had not established that her marriage was not entered into for the primary purpose of circumventing the immigration laws of the United States.

The AAO reviewed the Service record of Ms. [REDACTED] and noted that although Ms. [REDACTED] was offered an opportunity to submit evidence in opposition to the acting district director's findings, no additional evidence had been entered into the record of proceeding. Nor did Ms. [REDACTED] refute or explain the basis of the contradictory testimony given at the interview. The AAO, therefore, affirmed the acting district director's decision to deny Ms. [REDACTED] application.

Accordingly, the applicant is ineligible for adjustment of status to permanent residence, as the stepchild of a native and citizen of Cuba, pursuant to section 1 of the Act of November 2, 1966. The decision of the acting district director to deny the application will be affirmed.

ORDER: The acting district director's decision is affirmed.
